TELEGRAPHIC.

The Big Moguls are Arriving at Cincinnati to Nominate a President.

The Prospects of the Various Candidates From their Friends Standpoint.

How it Will end is yet Doubtful But Seymour to be the man.

Tilden's Letter of Declaration has Knocked Him Into His Little 'Bar'!

AT CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, June 21.—Some of Tilden's friends point out that his letter is not in its terms an absolute declaration and that they would push his claims if there was any hope of success. It is apparent, however, that this is hopeless because the great body of delegates prefer accepting the letter as putting Tilden out of the race, and thus relieving them of the obligation of supporting him. Many who have heretofore done so reluctantly and against their own judgment. Bayard is looked upon as the least and best among the other candidates; his precedence is considered by far the best element in the convention; but as yet there is no strong reason to anticipate his nomination. Tilden's supporters are not numerous, apparently, but they make up in energy and push what they lack in numbers. If brass bands and strong assertions could settle the nomination, Tilden would have had it long ago; but as it now stands he is likely to fall behind; he will likely be the dark horse before the race is over.

Hancock's friends are very quiet; but watchful; and apparently disposed to hold him back until his opportunity shall have developed.

Hendricks's friends are made desperate by Tilden managers to knife him; on the other hand Tilden has declined being delivered.

Jewett's friends are well organized and active.

Randolph and Grossbeck, each in a separate way, have placed themselves in a position to make a strong statement in support of their respective candidates.

John Kelley's denunciation of Tilden's letter of the 18th as a "whining begging petition for the nomination," and followed by the rumor of another missive to come from him. It is asserted to have been prompting a move for to-day's action by the New York delegation formally accepting Tilden's renunciation as definitely taking him out of the canvass.

There is no doubt now that the rumor was true as telegraphed to you at the time of the New York state convention at Syracuse, that Tilden had a letter of a similar character to present to that body, and it is said that he withheld it at the request of friends who accepted his contemplated withdrawal; but thought that it was a postponement till the meeting of the national convention would enable them to better hold and calculate their organization for the maintenance of their power and influence. Tilden would like Payne of Ohio, or Randall, to be his legatee; but the effort to control the Tilden vote, has thus far proved a failure, so also did the movement attempted to-day to unite New York, New Jersey and Connecticut solidly for Payne. Some of the Connecticut delegation are strong for English; but have temporarily yielded in Payne's favor, hoping for help from the latter in return whenever the race shall be left to a dark horse. Still no arrangement for a solid vote in the three states seems at present probable. If the Tammany men are admitted, they will vote for Bayard who is the choice of more delegates than any other man yet named his friends can show that he would have a reasonable probability of carrying New York and Indiana. The strongest objection urged against him is the fear that his war record will lose his party, but his financial views would make him strong in New York and it is suggested that Indiana might be secured by insisting upon no second choice, they are first, last, and always for Hendricks. There is a good deal of enthusiasm in the support of his candidacy; but its importance will depend on the strength that may come from the south.

The Illinois delegation meets to-night to vote on Bristol as their choice. There is a wide diversity of opinion among the delegates. Missouri is more divided.

The Minnesota delegates reached here this forenoon in a special car.

At a meeting of the New York delegation the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved—That with the assurance of profound gratitude for his great service to his country and the democratic party, and with unqualified admiration for his character and ability, this delegation has received with deep regret the impressive declaration by Gov. Tilden, to be a candidate for the nomination and election to the presidency of the United States.

The following of Judge Field does not appear formidable at this time. It is more quiet than other prominent candidates. One of the most conspicuous leaders here expressed the opinion that the contest will finally be narrowed down to Bayard from the east, and McDonald from the west; but it is difficult to see how this is to be brought about while Senator McDonald is among the warmest friends of Hendricks. Speaker Randall has many warm friends and consequently may arise, which will give to him part of Tilden's vote. Wesleyan regard the support of Hancock by a part of the Pennsylvania as fatal to Randall's chances. As to the contested seats, an opinion is expressed that none of the contestants will be admitted. The national committee unanimously agreed the nomination of Geo. Headley, of Cincinnati for temporary chairman, and Mayor Prince, of Boston, as temporary secretary. In the matter of the contest in Massachusetts, and New York, it was decided to allow the representatives, one on each side, to present their case in speech.

The Times announces another letter will be forthcoming from Tilden.

Although much interest in canvassing is progressing to-night, there is but little excitement and no bitterness manifested. The Cincinnati Times is considered a good authority for the statement that Tilden has prepared another letter containing the circumstances under which he would accept a nomination while the statement has a strong element of probability.

Gov. Stevenson, of Kentucky, was made permanent chairman of the convention. Sixty-one members of the Randall Association of Philadelphia, left that city yesterday for the convention. They were dressed in uniform and carried a silk banner on which was painted an oil portrait of the Speaker. Three thousand people saw them off. A Hendricks train of ten coaches, will leave Indianapolis to-day for Cincinnati. Seymour's declaration was a great disappointment to the supporters of the hoosier candidate, who were anxious to nominate the New Yorker, reserving the second place for their man. It is first place or nothing with them now.

Chicago, June 21.—The Journal's special states that a letter of declaration from Hendricks is in hand ready to be used if deemed advisable. The fact is, John Kelley holds the key to the situation, and has compelled Seymour and Tilden to withdraw, and with a democratic administration, Tammany hall would be more powerful at Washington than any democrat leader or set of leaders. This convention is simply called to ratify the choice of Kelly and Tammany.

Washington, June 21.—The commission to ratify an agreement with the Utes, has received written instructions from the Secretary of the Interior, and started for Denver, whence they proceed to Los Pinos, Red Cloud, Spotted Tail and other Sioux tribes. They will make another visit to the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., and will then go to Dakota.

Galveston, Tex., June 21.—The News special says that the various parts of the state show a general dissatisfaction and indignation at Curries acquittal.

Toronto, Canada June 21.—Hanlon has arrived at home. He is rather despondent over the result of the race at Providence; but insists that his actions were square.

Hendricks again taking the second place.

Bayard is clearly the first choice in the south, and if the southern delegates could be made to see that he will be acceptable to the northern democrats they would be likely to go for him en masse. He has more chances, apparently of going in the balloting than any other of the prominent favorites; but it would be hazardous to say that his success is probable.

Thurman's friends are quietly but earnestly at work, for they have to contend with the wide spread conviction here that Ohio is surely a republican State under Garfield's leadership, and this argument puts out the present view that all Ohio men, unless Grossbeck, should come forward as a dark horse after a long run of success at balloting. Field will make some progress.

Sam. B. Smith is conducting his canvass, which has, however, failed to consolidate the Pacific delegates for him; they say that they look for a small vote on early ballots, but expect Thurman's vote when the latter boom breaks, and they talk about showing the figures.

A. S. Jewitt is looked upon as a prominent dark horse whenever Payne's choice becomes hopeless.

Some of Tilden managers to-night are talking sharply of Ex-Governor Ingersoll, of Connecticut, and circulating flattering statistics of his great popularity during his successful State canvass; the fact is also significant that Spriggs of Utica, New York, to whom Governor Seymour wrote a letter recently saying that he was thinking more of his will and funeral than his nomination, is again hard at work in favor of Seymour's election since Tilden has passed out of the way.

Mayer Harrison, of Chicago, is also laboring to the same end, and the Illinois delegation to-night is hot for Seymour whose chances are best of any now named if the convention can be made to believe that he will accept a nomination if forced upon him.

The Tammany contests from New York and Butler's delegates from Missouri, by a vote of the national committee to be admitted to the floor is pending, a final action on contested seats; but are not to participate in proceedings to effect an organization.

Chicago, June 21.—The Times editorially sums up the delegates from California, and are in receipt of many telegrams from their constituents asking them to vote for him.

Berlin, June 21.—Bismarck insists upon the adoption of the church bill. The Conservatives and Liberals have reconsidered their position of opposition to its adoption, and that the new modification would enable them to support it.

Rome, June 21.—In polling for a return of fourteen Municipal and six Provincial, yesterday, the clerical list is almost entirely triumphant. Gen. Garibaldi was beaten by Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave.

Vienna, June 21.—New Free Press recommends the deposition of the Sultan in order to save Turkey. The Freidenblatt Government organ demands European surveillance and control over the porte. The Vienna press believes that the end of Turkey as a state is at hand, and advises Austria to take as much as possible of the Turkish territory.

Chicago, June 21.—The United States Distillery Co.'s brewery, on 27th St., near the lake, was partially burned this morning. The loss on building stock chiefly whiskeys and high wines, and machinery $30,000. Insurance $18,000. Daniel McCarthy and Paul Linder, employees, were probably fatally burned.

Paris, June 21.—The Jesuites expelled from France have purchased a house at Prague. The Chamber of Deputies passed a religious estimate by a vote of 390 to 60. The extreme left joining the majority.

Toronto, June 21.—Hanlon's physician says the oarsman is not permanently injured; but prescribes several months cure. Hanlon will train for the race with Trickett in England.

Paris, June 21.—The Municipalities has voted 200,000 francs for the celebration on the national fete day, the 14th of July, of the condition that the General Government grant 500,000 francs for the same purpose.

FOREST FIRES.

St. Johns, N. C., June 21.—Forest fires are doing immense damage, and many villages are threatened. Work has been stopped in several places and the inhabitants are out fighting the flames.

Public Meeting.

A public meeting will be held to-night at the St. Nicholas Hotel, for the purpose of taking measures to give a proper and appropriate welcome to General Grant in his expected visit to this Territory. It will be necessary to consider the mode and secure for, roasts, a pro, of banquet and entertainment.

DIED.—At Tippecanoe, N. M. Saturday, June 19th, 1880, J. M. W. Wells, in the 71st year of his age. Deceased was a native of New Jersey and a son of Richard and Annie Moore Wells. He died after twenty-one days of patient suffering. He was a brother of S. H. Wells, well known throughout this territory, and leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his loss. The funeral services were held Sunday at the M. E. Church, the body being interred in the Masonic cemetery. Rev. Harwood preached the funeral sermon and conducted the burial services, assisted in the latter by Rev. La Tourette, of Fort Union.
